Overview

Harold Blinderman has represented clients in the areas of environmental, energy, land use and public utilities for over 30 years. He regularly counsels and represents companies in permitting, compliance, siting, transactions and enforcement at the federal and state level. Harold regularly interacts with federal and state agencies, including the:

- Connecticut Department of Energy and Environmental Protection
- Connecticut Siting Council
- Connecticut Public Utilities Regulatory Authority
- U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
- U.S. Army Corps of Engineers
- U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the National Marine Fisheries Service
- Federal Energy Regulatory Commission

Harold routinely handles environmental and energy permitting, compliance and litigation matters in such areas as the Clean Water Act, the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, the Clean Air Act and their companion state statutes and regulations. His practice includes advising clients regarding compliance and enforcement matters on a routine basis. His experience includes representing clients in the acquisition, development and permitting of power generating facilities, transmission infrastructure, gas storage facilities, and solar and wind resources. Harold regularly advises corporate clients on the environmental implications of commercial transactions, including Connecticut's Property Transfer Law. Harold is also actively involved in leadership positions in his field and in the community, including serving as Board Chair of Riverfront Recapture, a nonprofit organization which maintains public parks and trails along the Connecticut River.
